Vexve – Inspired by your flow

Vexve Oy is the world's leading supplier of district energy valve solutions for the heating and cooling needs of cities and industry. Our valve and network control solutions for demanding applications enable the transition to a carbon-free future.

Our roots are firmly in the energy sector. Founded in 1960 in Sastamala, we have expanded and grown to become a leading player in our field, both in terms of product range and expertise. The long traditions of our brands, Vexve and Naval as well as Hydrox, are recognized all over the world. Vexve professionals manufacture products on modern, highly automated production lines in our Laitila and Sastamala facilities. Among our customers and partners, we are known for high quality, fast deliveries, superior customer service and technical expertise.

Vexve is part of Vexve Armatory Group, which is the leading European provider of valve solutions for the energy sector and critical conditions. The group is owned by a long-term oriented active owner and development partner DevCo Partners Oy.
